DEBATERS WIN THIRD STRAIGHT OVER S. F. J. C.

Nelson, Meghino, Rose, Sigerson Uphold Gaters

Going down to defeat under the withering cross-fire of Marianne Nelson and Patricio Megino last Thursday, and swept off their feet under the verbal barrage of Bill Rose and Bob Sigerson last Tuesday, the S. F. Jaysee debating team lost their second and third straight debates to the State varsity.

STATE UNDEFEATED

The State varsity debaters have never been defeated by the Jaysee debaters, Burton Johnson and Bill Rose starting off their record of victories two years ago by defeating the Jaysee team in the initial debate between the colleges. This year the junior college will have one more chance to win a victory, as the team of J. Wallace Gallagher and Marianne Nelson meet them at Galileo High School on Tuesday, November 2, at 3:30 p.m.

DEBATE NEUTRALITY

The question debated in the last two debates was: "Resolved: that the United States should maintain a strict neutrality policy toward all world belligerants." In the Rose-Sigerson debate, State defended the affirmative side of the question against a men's team from the Jaysee. In the Megino-Nelson verbal tussle, the opposite sides of the issue were taken, State arguing the negative. In both debates the reports were that State was able to disprove the entire case of the Jaysee teams. In the Tuesday debate held on the Jaysee campus, the judges were Lloyd Luckman, the junior college coach, and Dr. Claude Shull, the State coach. Thursday, Dr. Treutlein was the judge.

DEBATE TUESDAY

The last debate of the season with the Jaysee will be held next Tuesday, and then the team will move on to meet such colleges and universities at U. C., U. C. L. A., Loyola, Santa Clara and U. S. C.

Casebolt Invited To Address Convention

Professor Jessie D. Casebolt, instructor in Drama and Speech in San Francisco State College, has been extended an invitation to speak at the National Association of Teachers of Speech to be held in New York at the Twenty-second Annual Convention on December 29, 1937.

Normal schools, teachers' colleges, colleges, and universities, and include also prospective teachers in general and prospective teachers of speech will attend.

Bob Sweeny Wins Rally Prize Fri.

Initial rally of the second series of Rally Talent Parades was held last Friday in the gym at 12 o'clock. Bob Sweeney won first acclaim with his vocal selections. Sweeny was a little bashful and shaky on his first number, "My Fraternity Pin," but he made a swell comeback with the selection "Veni Veni". Mary Jane May, a girl from Hawaii, presented a real Hula, accompanied by George Dorris on his guitar. She won second place among the rally contestants. Dorothy McGuinness gave a dance number which was well received by the audience, and George Dorris, an outside entertainer and night club headliner, accompanied his own vocal selections on his guitar. Dorris made quite a hit when he sang "Mr. Paganini" with a fancy Martha Raye swing.

The two winners of the contest are now eligible to take part in the Gala Rally Talent Parade which will terminate the series of rallies. As in the previous rally series, a silver cup trophy will be awarded to each of the three winning contestants of the finale. The awards will be donated through the courtesy of Jenkel Jewelers of 150 Post Stret.

Hal Delma, general manager of the Rally Talent Parades, would like as many students as possible to sign up for the future rallies. He will be glad to answer any questions personally or through Box 770.

Seniors Plan Hill Billy Gym Dance

Hay, cider, and comic costumes will be in vogue, with Virginia reels and square dances holding sway during the intermissions. The dances will be called by Wallace MacDonald, and will feature all the characters of Billy DeBeck's comic strip, Barney Google, Snuffy Smith, Honey Pot, Lowizie, and Punkin Haid.

The wearing of costumes, although not compulsory, is advisable, as there will be a number of prizes given for the outstanding costumes.

Quota of 200 Hit; Accommodations For 300

Tomorrow is the final date for the sale of excursion tickets to Sacramento Junior College for State's football encounter there on the night of November 5. The required quota of 200 delegates has been reached and further accommodations are being made for 300 students.

MANY GET SUBSCRIPTIONS

The San Francisco Chronicle Contest closed last Friday. Many students took advantage of the offer of a free excursion ticket offered for each Chronicle subscription contract that was submitted to the committee in charge of the excursion. The tickets won will be awarded after the contracts submitted have been checked.

Bud Decker, general chairman of the arrangements committee, has been assisted by State's yell leaders, Hal Delma, Vern Ouelette, Vernon Rees, Audrey Stewart, and Frances Twohig. They have been responsible for providing transportation, organizing a program for the train trip, and making all arrangements with the Sacramento Junior College student body officers and representatives.

LEAVE AT 4 P.M.

The delegation, which will leave San Francisco at 4 p.m. on Friday afternoon, will go en masse to the ferry where they will take the Southern Pacific train. The Market Street cars numbered 1, 5, 9, and 13 will transport the members of the excursion party to the ferry. On their arrival in Sacramento, the San

I. R. C. CONVENE CONCLUDED WITH GIGANTIC LUNCHEON

Regional Conference of International Relations Clubs concluded its convention at Mills College with a grand luncheon Saturday at 12:30. Speaker at the table was Major C. Douglass Booth, lecturer and publicist of Canada, whose topic was "Economic Nationalism in an Interdependent World."

This annual conference was held by invitation of Mills College in cooperation with the Carnegie Endowment for Peace at New York. Miss Amy Hemingway Jones, Division Assistant of the Endowment, was head speaker at the convocation, and also speaking at that time were Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills College, and Eleanor Hadley, president of the International Relations Clubs.

ROUND TABLE GROUPS

Following the convocation, round table symposiums were held, with the discussions including such topics as the internal condition in Japan, the race for power and prestige, the isolation and neutrality of America, and some fundamental principles of the International state system.

State College delegates who were housed on the campus consisted of Bessie Hall, Patricio Megino, Helen Williams, Virginia Wherle, Mr. Rich, Mary Chu, Mr. Olam, Marjorie Graham, Fujio Furuta and Phyllis Ferrari.

MAYER EXHIBITION

Friday evening the delegates were entertained by a dinner-dance held at the Student Union. Earlier in the evening, Miss Helene Mayer, world champion woman fencer of

BLOCK 'S' PLANS BOXING SHOW

A Boxing Show, tentatively scheduled for December 1, leads the three remaining events in this semester's program of the Block "S" Society. The nature of the exhibition is intercollegiate and promises to bring forth some stiff competition. The elimination bout will be held at San Francisco State College, and the winners of this match will meet contestants of other Bay Area schools. In the words of Mike Driscoll, president of the Block "S" Society: "It's gonna be a wow!"

This is the first year that State has gone into intercollegiate boxing, and if it proves a success, it will be continued in the future. The Block "S" Society would like to have the wholehearted cooperation of the student body in order to maintain boxing as a State sport.

The initiation of new men from the ranks of boxing and football supporters into the Block "S" Society will take place during the week beginning December. There will be a week's hazing to arouse the enthusiasm of the initiates, climaxed by a dinner to be held at one of San Francisco's large downtown hotels.

"DIXIE LAND" W. A. A. NEW PLAYDAY THEME

Dixie Land will be the theme of this semester's Playday which is sponsored each semester by W. A. A. for high schools in the bay area. It will be held on Saturday, November 13, from eight in the morning until three in the afternoon. Each high school is invited to enter into the activities of the day which include tournaments of basketball, baseball, volleyball, and kickball. Also one hour will be devoted to progressive games. The Dixie Land idea is being carried out in the invitations, programs, decorations, favors, and entertainment. Luncheon will be served in Frederic Burk for the nominal charge of twenty-five cents. All girls who would like to attend the luncheon should make reservation in the gym before Saturday to assure accommodations.

A. W. S. Spooks Party

State women were entertained last Thursday in the gymnasium by the A. W. S. The well organized entertainment and games planned by Lois Arentz, chairman of the affair, made the evening thoroughly enjoyable. Many door prizes were given to the guests, consisting of cover charges for the Fairmont, Mark Hopkins, and Palace Hotels. Refreshments were served as a climax to the meeting. These mass meetings are given every semester in order to produce a friendly feeling and a spirit of cooperation among State women.

Music Fed. Plans Party For Nov. 12

Music Federation is planning another party for its members and their friends on November 12, in view of the success of the last one. Admission will be, as last time, Federation cards or twenty-five cents. Plans are also being made to take the Music Federation to various schools in the Bay Area in order to deputize them. This will give an opportunity for music students to get more semi-professional experience.

Campaign Plans On New Building Project Started

Student Prexy Smith Appoints Decker, Smith, Zech On Strategy Committee

Plans for continuing last year's campaign for San Francisco State College's current building program were under way this week with Student Body President William J. J. Smith heading the Strategy Committee. Bud Decker, Ed Smith, and Norman Zeck are assisting Smith on the committee.

NEW PLANS MADE

Last semester a similar committee organized a student campaign to bring before the State Ways and Means Committee in the State Capitol in Sacramento, San Francisco State's need for new building on the local campus. Contact was made with State Congressmen and Assemblymen.

This year's committee, which met last Friday, is formulating plans to continue last semester's campaign. The specific building requests are a new Administration Building, gymnasium, and library. The members will follow several lines in their work and will contact State Congressmen and Assemblymen. Through Harold Martin, the College publicity director, numerous city newspapers will be contacted. A movie, presenting a model of the proposed new campus, is also being contemplated.

VISIT GOVERNOR

Visits to Governor Merriam will be made and several speeches describing the present condition of the campus will be presented before State officials.

The student body will be organized "in order that building campaign can be launched immediately," states President W. J. Smith.

Alpha Gamma Plans November Convention

Confident of the success of the Ninth Annual Western Section Convention of Alpha Phi Gamma, to be held in San Francisco on November 26, 27, 28, Max Williamson, chairman for the event, has commented as follows:

"The 1937 Alpha Phi Gamma, Beta Phi Gamma Western Section Convention should be one of the most successful in the history of the fraternity. Our chapter recently was named the most active in the entire National Fraternity, and added to this, we have for our location the natural beauty and fascination of one of the most interesting cities in the world."

On November 26, registration will take place, followed by a banquet to be held at one of the better known places in Chinatown. Entertainment suitable to the locality will be offered. Hal Burdick, veteran newspaper man, has been contacted concerning speech plans for the evening.

Swiping Scourges Again!

For the last few weeks faint murmurs have come to the editorial ears which bemoaned the fact that the ancient evil of "swiping" was being revived on the campus.

Having ranted and raved on this subject many times before, the Golden Gater hesitates to rant again.

But Pearl Sigrand does it for us:

"I feel some comment is necessary on the subject of student dishonesty at San Francisco State College. It seems one can't put down a piece of property for more than one minute without having it stolen.

"One-half of the students here can tell of things they have had stolen, and the other half can probably tell what became of them.

"Certain of the faculty can also cite instances where their offices have been entered and rifled.

"This ugly situation should certainly be put before the student body. It is for them to decide whether S.F.S. College shall continue to suffer such a reputation for dishonesty."

Perhaps Miss Sigrand was a bit riled when she took her pen in hand over the loss of some of her "property." It would seem that the number of student body members she accuses of "swiping" is a wee bit exaggerated.

But something must be done. And whatever is done must have more "teeth in it" than merely bringing it up before the student body.

The matter will be brought up at the next executive board meeting, and effort will be made to bring it up before the next faculty meeting.

Heat isn't turned on yet, but this college is going to be made pretty hot for the scum that conducts petty larceny!

Faculty: Please Note

Last Friday officially ended all midterms (upper and lower division)) until the next time! By then, it is hoped, the plan for scheduling midterms like finals will be in effect.

If all goes well, students who have had two, three and more midterms on the same day will no longer be subjected to that suffering.

Now just a wee bit of prodding to the faculty: Please release some definite word (other than "we are considering the proposal") to the Gater, and let it be published so that the general student body can know which leg they stand on. Thanks a lot.

Get Your Tickets!

Only five more daze, and we're off to Sacramento to let the local boys know we have a college down here. No detail has been left undone, so the trip will be one rare time from the second we board the "puffer" until they pour the student body off the ferry in the wee small hours of Sat. A. M.

Two-fifty or a Chronicle subscription is all you need to swell Friday's merry total of 237!

High and Low Notes

By MILT BRONSTEIN

Last Friday morning the S. F. State Symphonic Band performed before the student body of Mission High. A variety show was put on by the members of the band, the idea being that this was the way the members of the band spend their spare time. This was called "An evening at home with the boys." Mr. Ernst directed the band and was master of ceremonies. The men in the variety show were: Jack Martin with his banjo; Paul DePoister dancing with his dumb girl-friend (no cracks); a duet by Jack Martin and Sid Voight; Pete Rugolo's Chamber Music Ensemble, consisting of Dick Lotter, Reese Chapman, Barney Brodien, and Jack Martin; and a hill-billy number by no other one than myself. The High School was given its choice of colleges from which to pick a program, and they selected S. F. State. They enjoyed the show immensely, the credit going to Mr. Ernst for his organization of the affair.

State music department is presenting a series of four Sunday Vesper Concerts at the Congregational Methodist Temple, Post and Mason Streets. Because of this, the A Cappella Choir made recordings last Thursday to hear all of their good notes and a few more of their bad ones. In addition to this the Choir is performing in the near future in a transcontinental broadcast at 7:30 on a Sunday morning over the National Broadcasting Chain. I see in my crystal ball that there will be a few of us who will get no sleep at all on that Saturday nigat.

Pretty tough on us music majors who have to work on Friday and Saturday nights. Many of us who have been here for four years haven't had a chance to attend the social affairs, thus leaving our social life in the college lying in the dust. We don't get a chance even to go to the noon dances. Woe is us. The only consolation is that we do earn a little money and maybe work our way through college. It's hard enough to get through the school with the very small chance to study on the week ends, but it's the Monday mornings that really get us. If you don't believe it, ask some dance musician how he feels this morning, and two to one he will tell you that he hasn't recovered yet from Saturday night's jam session.

Throat so dry and throbbing head
Bloodshot eyes and body sore

Can't get up . . . feel so bad
Boy, what a wonderful time you had!

Never felt so bad before
Even your darned old tongue is sore,

I hope you will bear with me while I tell you that I have finally decided upon a solution for one of our most perplexing problems here at State. I refer, of course, to the situation in the local cafeteria during the peak hours of business, or the noon hour, if you prefer cold words to descriptive phrases.

The solution is really quite simple. In fact, I might say that I am slightly amazed that it came to me with such little trouble. I might even say that it came to me with no trouble at all, I might even say.

There I was, one summery day, sitting in the co-op, practically alone except for three or four hundred other weary people, slowly sipping a glass of beer too strongly tainted with the juice of the root. Objectively, I watched the madmen behind the counter pacing crazily back and forth, tripping over each other in the mad confusion that goes on at this time. Abstractedly, I listened to the familiar "What'll ya have, Dearie?" that seemed to be coming from all sides of me. Wearily, I sipped my black-sheep beer, allowed my arms to be knocked off of the counter, my feet to be stepped on, and hands to come sliding over my shoulder grabbing for spoons and straws.

BELL RINGS—SCRAM

I watched the crowd, three deep in each position, waiting to jump for a seat left by either a person who was through eating, one who was tired of it all, or a philanthropist, heart bubbling over with good will, standing up himself so as to relieve the misery of someone else.

And as I watched it all, my one-cylinder brain began to warm up, turned over, and with no more than a few backfires, began to purr in the smooth style of an outboard motor. A bulb broke over my head, my eyes rolled, I bared my pearly fangs, and flecks of foam appeared in the corners of my mouth. In other words, I got an idea.

It is really quite simple. In fact, it is so simple that, as I said before, I am slightly amazed. Briefly, why not allot a time limit to each person seated in the co-op during the rush hour. Say ten minutes a person. Fix a time clock, with a bell attacher, over each seat. When the limit is up, the bell rings, the seat pitches backwards, tossing its occupant, milk shake in hand, to the floor. Is this solution not splendid? Is it not terrific? I might even say—but no, I should not brag too much about my own theories.

Think of the possibilities. A laugh with every bite. Seats for the asking. The student body eating at the College Sweet Shop, or in Haight Street, or at Annex C, instead of all making for the downstairs beanery. The co-op deserted from 12 to 1 o'clock. Ah, I am overwhelmed. I must find Chamberlin, and gloat over him about my idea. I will search every gutter until I find him. He cannot escape me.

So I leave you to mull over the idea, and if this fails we will think of a new one.

Goodbye, now . . .

It all came about in this wise. At the university forestry camp, one of the boys brought back a six foot black snake. They didn't want the meat to go to waste, so the camp cook wrestled with it for a while and at dinner produced black snake roast as the main course.

The eleven charter members, who had agreed each to eat an equal portion of the meat, sat around the table, a little doubtful, but anxious to prove their sportsmanship.

To everyone's surprise the dish proved extremely popular—in fact the cook dashed in and recovered a large piece for himself.

GATER SPORTS

STUFF 'N' THINGS IN STATE SPORTS

By PHIL SCHMIDT

Regardless of what has happened in their previous games, State's varsity football squad can make their season something of a success by defeating Sacramento Junior College this Friday. Not only would the win restore some of the Tide's lost prestige but it would give the excursion a happy ending. The Senators will be by far the strongest squad that the Gaters have played this year.

TRACK AND FIELD NEAR AT HAND

What does the future hold for the Gater track and field team? Plenty! With Daryl Hopkins ready to pull the iron man stunt again and plenty of interested freshmen ready to turn out, State's cindermen should enjoy one of their most prosperous years. Bill Stein, all city high school discus thrower, will heave the platter. Bill Watkins, colored sprint flash, will bolster the Gater in the short events. Veteran distance runner Stan Kuder will uphold State in the grueling mile.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

As intramural feetsball heads into the final stretch two teams stand out as the class. They are the Rover Boys and the Block "S". The former team, however, seems the more potent of the two. Of past performances they should win the play off with ease. Irwin, Lumpe, Hegarty, and McCoy are the mainstays of the team.

By the by, why do the men of State have such a weak interest in sports? In the number two and three intramural groups, teams often fail to show up and when they do, they seldom have more than five men. Is it because they are weaklings, or do the State women have all the he-men next to their bosoms?

SCATTERED QUESTIONS ON MORE STUFF

What will next year's baseball team be without Bill Abbey? . . . Will Jayvee football be more of a success next season? . . . Why doesn't Coach Cox partake in the coaching of the football team? . . . If we're not mistaken he brought several championship teams to Poly High. . . . Why is one required to be on the football team in order to make a good mark in the gym football test? . . . This seems like forcing sports on the students and is another reason why athletic interest lags at this college. . . . Nuff said, and will see you at the Capitol game.

Hoopsters Get New Prospects For Coming Casaba Season

Promises of a rip-roaring State basketball varsity are already appearing on the practice courts of the Salvation Army gym.

Showing much of that old "fighting spirit" that has been in evidence in the last few seasons, coupled with the unexcelled initiative of the few members of the casaba squad who have already been practicing for a week, are such players as little Billy Hammond, veteran of years and years of athletic club competition, Kenny Johnson, steady guard of yesteryear, Marty Callum, who played in the end of last season as a promising guard, Bill Plutte, bulky guard star of several seasons, Bob Bragg, who ended the last season as a center of the Jayvees, Al Lunzt, lanky block-winning center of last year, and that "unknown quantity" in intercollegiate competition, the man who averaged more points per game than any other man on his high school team, Joe Sanz, freshman promise.

The initiative of the casabans is shown by their arranging several practice scrimmages in the last two weeks, although they are as yet playing without the tutelage of their coach, Dan Farmer. One of the games with the Hayes Valley Athletic Club was played on the courts of the Aptos Junior High School, another game with a team from the Navy which is at present parked on the bay, was played on the Salvation Army courts last Thursday.

J. V.'s IMPROVE

Another successful year for the Jayvee basketball team is promised with a full schedule being prepared by Mirande. The team is expected to make several trips during the season, including games with Willets and Ukiah High Schools, the "big game" of the year in those towns, and maybe a game with Pittsburg High School. With the exception of a few players who may be promoted to the varsity to fill the empty ranks, Mirande expects esssentially the same team to take the floor for him this year as did last. They include such players as Bill Rowlands, the Thompsons, Hal and "Red", "Jerk" Smith, and the Collinses, Frankie and Ed.

Jayvees Lose To Polytechnic 13-6

The fickle finger of fate, personified by a forty-five-yard touchdown march in the last two minutes of play, breaking a 6-6 tie, gave the Polytechnic reserves a hard-won victory over the State Jayvees, Friday afternoon at Roberts Field by a score of 13 to 6.

Polytechnic opened the scoring late in the second quarter when they capitalized on a lengthy punt return and marched thirty-odd yards to a touchdown. They failed to add the extra point.

After being bottled up in their own territory for the entire 1st half, the Gaters took a short kick on the Parrot forty and on straight power went over for the score. Mike Delma negotiating the final two yards.

The Parrots, led by Vic Ramus, diminutive halfback, cleanly outplayed the Jayvees. However, the Staters showed definite promise, according to bystanders, and with a little more experience and the moxie that goes with it should be tough to beat from here in. Bob Cummings, center; Tom Thorpe, halfback, and Harry Robey, fullback, all were outstanding for the Staters, while Vic Ramus carried the brunt of the Parrot attack.

REUNION SOON

A reunion and homecoming for all former members of the Block "S" Society will be presented some time before the close of this semester. This concluding event will feature a Block "S" Day on the campus, followed by a dinner dance at one of the downtown hotels which is yet to be selected.

—"Go With the Gaters"—

All weights and classes will be represented, from flyweight to heavyweight and may be topped off with an exhibition match between Earl Booker and some unnamed opponent. Booker, State's contribution to the professional ranks, has been a favorite performer in other boxing shows.

YEAGER SHYS

Carl Yeager, varsity boxing manager, was enthusiastic about the popularity of his team, "Our first show is really to introduce our team to the student body. All the matches will be arranged by the participants drawing the name of their opponent from a hat. Thus the name of each fighter will not be known until the drawing. We may have to charge a small admission in order to pay for the rental of the gymnasium."

According to Yeager, Maury Schwarz will again be number one man. Fighting at one-seventy-one, Schwarz is a hard body puncher and his ability to absorb punishment was well shown in the Block "S" Boxing of last year. There is also a chance that a repeat of the once popular "Sad" Sam Goldstein-Schwarz wrestling matches may be staged.

Further additions to the team will be the presence of Bobby Kelnhofer, midget member of the State Grid Squad, and Bill Harkness, also a member of the football squad. Kelnhofer, a middleweight, is fast but unexperienced. Harkness, who will enter the light-heavyweight class, has little experience behind him in the squared circle.

—"Beat Sacramento"—

BLOCK "S" MEETS BEARS TUESDAY

While the varsity footballers tramp up and down the state, many Staters have had to be content with watching the intramural debacles on the upper field as their only method of watching gridiron clashes.

PLAY PERKS UP

During the past week, the play has slackened terrifically, but with the coming of the new month, "crucials" will be taking their place on the daily schedules. Today the Purple Shirts meet the defeated, but strong Weeke's Men eleven. Although neither of these squads is in the running, they both boast of strong aggregations.

Tomorrow marks the real opening of the big time football classics, when the Block "S", supposed to be the strongest team in the tournament, meets a stubborn Bear squad, led by George Thayer, in what may decide the Division I championship. Along with the Rover Boys, the Block wearers appear to have the cream of the touch-tackle talent around the campus, however an upset tomorrow is not an impossibility.

CHARACTERS vs. CRUSHERS

The Campus Characters, known by some as the Canvas Kissers, are slated to meet the Bone Crushers on Friday. Neither of these teams have appeared for their games yet, and failure to show up Friday will eliminate them. Thursday's battle between the Ramblers and the Purple Speedsters may decide the Division III title. Both are undefeated, as yet, but the Ramblers, sparked by diminutive "Scooter" Marder, is favored.

Last Monday, Columnist Tim Guiney wanted to know just what was being done with the 27c taken from the Student Union's 50c. To inform him and other curious ones, that 27c is not taken from the Student Union fund or allotment. Mr. Leo C. Nee disclosed the facts to me concerning the whole matter.

Two years ago the Executive Board, under the direction of Ed Morgan, agreed to pay for the lights on Roberts Field, and granted the sum of $750 as the initial installment. Last year the Executive Board, under the direction of Ed Cochrum, again granted a like sum. This year, however, the budget committee allotted 6c per person to be placed in the Student Union fund, and 27c per person to be used in paying for the lights. Both of these last two sums are directly appropriated from the Student Body fees of each person. A complete financial report from Mr. Nee is available in the student body office where any student is welcome to look at it.

Dean D. J. Cox, chairman of the Athletic Department, stated that in addition to the $2.50 appropriated to athletics the State of California appropriates four times that amount to be used for the expenses of Roberts Field. So it is a natural conclusion the Student Body is receiving full benefit of the Student Body Card.

GATERETTE . . . . . GOSSIP

By Babette Lau

It's today! Remember the W. A. A. vs. Faculty game we were telling you about? It takes place today at noon on the upper field. Come out and root for your favorite instructor. (It's a swell way to get an "A" in a course.) But if you've already been flunked in one of your classes, get even and razz him. We don't care which team you cheer for, just so long as you come out. It's all in fun, so join with us and root. If you think our faculty is a bunch of bunnies about soft ball, you're mistaken, 'cause they really are sluggers. . . . Wonder if Dr. Asher will again make his historical slide from second to third base all dressed up in his Sunday suit.

We are going to try something different Tuesday at noon in the gym. Whether it's a failure or success will all depend on you. It's going to be mixed volley ball. There will be one court on which both boys and girls may play. . . . The volley ball manager again makes a plea to the ruffians of State—please don't run off with the volley ball and shoot for baskets. If you want to play basketball, go out for the team, and stop corrupting W. A. A.'s noon hour program.

The women's single tennis tournament is coming along fine. We have a surprise for you tennis players. No longer will you have to play on State's (?) court. W. A. A. has reserved the Palace of Fine Arts for every Saturday morning. All you have to do is pay ten cents a person and W. A. A. will pay the rest plus furnishing new tennis balls. We are starting playing there on November 6th. Watch the turnament sheet in the gym for the hour of your match. We'll be starting the doubles tournament pretty soon, too; so sign up for it in the gym now.

Don't forget to come out for archery this Thursday at noon. All girls are invited, the more the merrier. Get your bows and arrows in the gym and meet at Roberts Field. You don't have to be an experienced shooter, 'cause Miss Van Gelder and Virginia Schapp are there to help you.

Had a grand time at the Hallowe'en party Friday night, but we haven't space now; so we'll give you all the snoops on it next week.

Tide Strong In First Half; Offensive Stopped By Poly

SLEEPER PLAY FAILS

Gomez Injured at Attempt To Punt In Third Quarter

By ED SMITH

It was a dreary day for the Gaters at San Luis Obispo Saturday when the Cal Poly Mustangs ran rampant against them and rolled up a 33 to 0 score, 26 of which came in the second half on breaks.

GATERS FIRST HALF

The first half of the ball game saw the Gater pushing the Mustang all over the field. Harkness, Gomez and Iago going four yards at a time put the ball down to the 15 yard line of the Mustangs. But there the Mustangs called a halt and took the ball on downs on the twenty-yard line. A bright spark of the Gater offense was the old "sleeper" play from Gomez to Iago which put the ball down on the 15 yard line and again the ball was lost on downs.

POLY SCORES IN FIRST

The first Poly touchdown came late in the second quarter when Les Rios "prayer passed" to George Silva for twenty yards, and Silva scampered the remaining 35 yards to tally. Dusina converted. Score 7-0 at the half.

BREAKS OUR DOWNFALL

From then on the "breaks" ran against the Gater. Early in the third quarter, a penalty started the ball rolling for Poly. Rios kicked out of bounds on the 1 yard line, and Ozzie Osborn of the Gaters had his punt partially blocked, the ball going out on the 19 yard line. Silva ran the ball to the 5 yard line and Gomez was taken out of the game injured. An unwarranted penalty placed the ball on the 1 and Silva scored from there. Dusina failed to convert. Score 13-0.

Late in the third period Poly got the ball in midfield and marches by Dooley and Stombaugh put the ball on the 6 yard line. Dooley scored from there on a sweeping end run, Cook converting. Score 20-0. In the opening minute of the fourth period, Tognetti returned Harkness's punt 55 yards with some beautiful down field blocking to tally. Cook again converted making the score 27-0.

FINAL 33-0

Late in the fourth found Tomei intercepting Harkness's pass on the forty and running it back to State's 25 yard line. A pass from Tomei to Cook was good for 20 yards and Cook took the ball over from there after three attempts to tally the final score. Cook failed to convert and the final score was 33-0.

In the first half, State made five first downs to Poly's one, but the second half the situation was reversed, State making one and Poly seven. Chandler, Iago, Beseman, Harkness, Kelnhofer and Gomez all played stellar ball for the Gaters. The breaks really won this ball game, though the score does not indicate it.

Class Pulls Boner?

Trys Tricky Sneak Play

Prof. Shoots Wad!

By D. LETE

This story might well be entitled "The Adventures of Little Edna Hutshing" because the wolf in her (or is it "him"?) came up and she fell hard before said creature.

The foul work was done in the Wednesday Shakespeare class, which, under normal conditions, is happily instructed by Dr. Frank Fenton. Before the class convened Little Edna's notorious grandmother, slyly called "Blum-Blum" by Little Edna, inscribed on the blackboard the stirring words, "No Shakespeare Class Today!"

WEE WOOLY SHEEPIES

One by one the students slipped in, set for instruction in the ancient course, only to fall under the evil influence of Little Eddie. Like wee wooly sheepies, they were led down the winding corridor and secreted in a near-by laboratory where, with restless mirth, they contemplated their dastardly deeds.

At 3:16 p.m. the terrible ten glided uneasily back to class and Professor Fenton, M. A. D., led by dramatic artist Corienne Mackintosh.

KOLLEGE KIDS KUTIES

It came—like a bombshell! An ex. was to be given the following Wednesday. The prof., sans typical smile, said in his bassiest tones, "An examination will be given this Friday. The class—is dismissed!"

So the kollege kids who played kindergarten kuties tripped toward the dark doorway.

"Town Hall" For A. M. S. Meet Thursday

"It's Town Hall Tonight!" Such was the statement of Daryl Hopkins, president of the A. M. S., yesterday, when questioned concerning the future activities of the Associated Men Students.

With Tom Thorpe as master of ceremonies and a talk by Dean Cox featuring the entertainment end, a plentiful supply of hot dogs and beans will provide an attraction that will be hard to beat. This meeting is only one of a series of gatherings sponsored by the A. M. S., all of which have been characterized in the past by a policy of free eats and bounteous and varied entertainment. According to Daryl, this policy will be strictly adhered to.

Tom Thorpe has arranged a program that he feels will be one of the most interesting ever put on by the A. M. S., if not the most entertaining. Following the policy stated by Daryl Hopkins in an interview early this year, Thorpe has lined up a program of outside entertainment that is unrivaled in State history. Numerous solos, virtuosos and other modes of entertainment willl also enliven the informal get together.

The meeting will be held Thursday in Annex B2. The time has been announced at 11:30.
